UB Hacking is an annual student 24-hour hackathon held at SUNY Buffalo.

It began in 2012 with 45 student hackers from UB alone. In 2013, we grew to over 100 participants from UB and other upstate New York universities. This year, we are planning to have 150 students representing western New York and Canadian universities.

UB Hacking 2014 will be taking place overnight from Saturday April 5 to Sunday April 6. Students from western New York and beyond will be coming to Buffalo to create web, mobile, and hardware applications for the 24-hour competition. Our goal is to provide students an environment to learn from their peers and engineering mentors, build outside of the classroom, and interact with awesome tech companies (like you!).

The monetary sponsorship tiers are presented on the following page. In addition to monetary sponsorship, we encourage sponsors to send company swag, and bring company engineers and other mentors. Being a mentor at UB Hacking, allows your company to more directly interact with the participants and provide help if your company provides an API.

We look forward to working with you for this year's UB Hacking. If you have any questions, comments, or would like to talk about what else we can provide you as a sponsor, send an email to contact@ubhacking.com.
